1. Using painters tape make a cross on a piece of white card stock.

2. Using watercolors paint at least the area around the cross. Try not the get the paper too wet, it will make removing the tape harder.

3. You want to pull the tape off when it is barely dry. Watercolors dry pretty quickly, so you should be able to remove shortly after the project is finished. If it starts to pull the paper, try pulling from a different angel.
